Superintendent's Highlights

In the Fall of 1996, a representative group of patrons, students, staff, and school board members met in a conference to review and revise the goals of the district as contained in the existing strategic plan. Goals and objectives for each building and the Board of Trustees are reviewed each year. Student handbooks contain career path information with students and parents encouraged to make class registration a joint effort.

Progress Towards Meeting District Goals

1996-97 Goals

Progress

To establish a plan of action for at-risk students and early intervention.

The District has implemented school crisis intervention procedures and each building has received training in developing Student Assistance Teams. A district drug policy is in place, along with a drug and substance abuse counseling program.

To practice shared decision making involving parents, students, and school.

IDEAS 52 Conference reviewed and revised the goals of the district as contained in the existing strategic plan.

To emphasize mastery of the basics.

A curriculum committee completed two years of work revising the district's Language Arts program.

To implement a comprehensive district-wide staff development program.

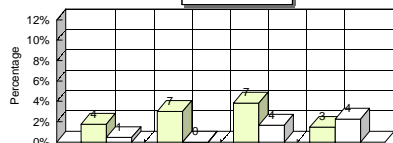

Each building plans its professional development activities for the year. Also, numerous district-wide classes for credit have been offered.
